

January BullyWatch Winner

We'd like to recognize Nacole Cumberland from Facilities Management, who was our BullyWatch winner for the month of January. Special thanks to Anita Phillips with the College of Veterinary Medicine for taking the time to nominate Nacole for this recognition. Here's what she wrote:

"At the College of Veterinary Medicine we have a lot of Interns, Residents and faculty that come to MSU from out of state. They do not know much about Starkville and Mississippi State so they don't know where they want to stay. Or in the case of the Intern and Resident they may only be here for a year. A lot of these end up staying in faculty housing. Nacole is the contact person for that. Every time I have someone use her they talk about how easy the process was and how wonderful she is to work for. She always makes the move to a new town more inviting. I would like to recognize Nacole Cumberland for her outstanding work ethic and pleasant attitude."
